

Community Partnerships FAQ

Q: What size gifts do you consider?

A: Our Community Partnership gifts are tailored to fit the unique needs and capacities of each partner organization. We examine factors such as the organization's operating budget, program budget and evidence of impactful outcomes. We encourage interested organizations to provide a detailed proposal so that we can align our support effectively with your initiatives.

Q: What criteria do you use to evaluate potential Community Partners?

A: We employ a multi-faceted evaluation approach to selecting our Community Partners. Organizations should demonstrate a commitment to:

- A human-centric mission that upholds the inherent dignity & worth of individual lives.
- Initiatives focused on dismantling systemic inequities and injustices.
- Evidence-informed planning and a track record of sustainable, impactful work.
- Active, hands-on involvement in at-risk or vulnerable communities.

Our aim is to collaborate with organizations that not only align with our values but also offer meaningful ways for our associates to engage, thereby enriching the depth and impact of our partnerships.

Q: How do organizations apply for Buckingham Community Partnerships?

A: Organizations interested in partnering with us can apply through the application available on our Community Partnerships page. The application process involves submitting a proposal along with any relevant evidence of your organization's impact and capacity. Community Partners will be contacted toward the end of 2023 with award decisions.
